TO INFLATE MONEY IF RECOVERY LAGS

President Indicates Action Is Not Planned at Once, But Will Be Taken If Needed.

WASHINGTON. Aug. 16.—(P)—
President Roosevelt is silently watching the trend of prices and keeping a firm grip on control over money and inflation to maintain a steady upward swing.

It was reiterated today at the White House that there is no change in his policy for a higher level of commodity prices and wages. But there was not the slightest inkling of any new moves in the delicate strategy to guide the nation back to better days.

The president is just not talking about the complicated monetary problem. He has his experts at work. His desk contains charts, Very apparently he is acting as conditions dictate.

Aside from some operations by the federal reserve board for purchase of government bonds in the open market, and the abandonment of the gold standard, none of the provisions of the provisions of green and the abandonment of the gold standard, none of the provisions o the inflation power given the presi dent has been employed.

Gradual Rise. The latest charts show a gradual rise in prices toward the 1910-1914 Have Fled Into Hiding level. The apparent goal is a climb to the 1924-1926 average.

So many members have fled in the freedom following a gun battle. Officers also left Dallas, Texas, hurriedly late Wednesday and it was supposed that they were hoping to make further arrests of Harvey Bailey's associates, identified as kidnapers and mass-killers.

Mr. Roosevelt is eagerly watching the monthly reports and by them he will be guided. Today he received a report from manufacturing industries in July. The level of employment was estimated at 7.2 per cent over the previous month and pay rolls were 7.9 per condition in order to tackle pressing social, economic and political pro' lems. Mr. Roosevelt is eagerly watching

To Avoid Fluctuations.

The president is particularly eager to avoid violent fluctuations in prices, and evidently feels the situation is now not only well under control, but that he has a firm hand on the machinery for directing prices.

Many economists hold similar opinions. So long as the aim of the administration seems on the road to achievement without further artificial development, they see little need to order to tackle pressing social, economic and political proclems.

It was authoritatively reported that guarantees would be given the frightened congressmen so that they might return to sessions safely.

Reports of Growing Restlessness in Mills Result

WASHINGTON. Aug. 16.—(UP) President Roosevelt cracked the whip over the giant steel industry today in an effort to end the dispute over its code which is threatening the recovery program.

As reports arrived from the coal and steel areas telling of increasing restlessness among dissatisfied workers Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Myron Mr. Roosevett conferred with Myron Taylor, chairman of the board of United States Steel Corporation, and Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of Bethlehem Steel Corporation. The steel men spent an hour with the chief executive but on departing declined to comment. Asked if they had discussed the steel code, Taylor said:

No "Big Stick."

Earlier in the day the White House lightly dismissed reports that Mr. Roosevelt was irritated by the attitude toward his program being displayed by steel and coal leaders and would use the "big stick" unless action were quick. Recovery administration authorities referred to as "Cousin Fred." He was regarded as one of the city's greatest boosters in a generation.

On June 1, last, Mr. Houser resigned as secretary of the cou ention bureau because of ill health. Returning from a visit to Athens Tuesday afternoon, he was stricken during the night.

He said the woman, with whom he said Colley had been "running around," had made the statement Colley told her Shank was implicated in the theft. Fear of prosecution on this charge, he said, was the sole motive for the quadruple slaying.

In the confession, Shank said he was ill when the papers were taken from the Wooster prosecutor's office during the forgery trial of Kenneth Braucher, to which they related. WHILE HUSBAND IS AT WORK
CHELSEA, Vt., Aug. 16.—(AP)—
Two children died today of poison, administered, authorities said, by their mother, who then attempted to end her own life.

The dead children were Edwin Fisk, 13 months old, and his sister, Beverly, 4. A third child, Franklyn Jr., 5, escaped a probable simirlar fate by not swallowing the potion.

The mother is Mrs. Franklyn Fisk, about 30, a native of Puerto Rico, who, doctors said, was suffering from a tropical malnutrition complaint.

He treated the baby for poison and rushed to the Fisk home, where Beverly Fisk was found near death. Both children died within a few minutes. Mrs. Fisk was found nearly unconsequence.

Commissioners Etheridge and Hendrix pointed out that a lower tax rate should be allowed; that the $200,000 added to the county's income through holding taxable properties nearly $20,000,000 more than was anticipated "should be passed on to taxpayers." and that it was too early to contemplate any marked advances in salaries.

"These reports," the administrator said, "are very encouraging for the reason that when people give jobs they give them to those on relief first.

"I think we can show a 5 per cent decline a month all summer through October, but we will not get that decline in dollars because we have got to get some backward states to provide more adequately. Adequacy is spotted and relief on the whole is inadequate."

Hopkins said this may mean that the $500,000,000 federal fund "may be gone sooner than expected but that is not an important factor—it's getting relief."

Thirteen of the 46 states and the national capital showed increases in the state of the deep in closed or restricted banks.

The picture is even/brighter, Cummings said, when cognizance is taken of the many details entering into the task of reopening an institution. In this connection he pointed out that of the 909 national banks still closed or unlicensed, 317 have received the official "o. k." of the treasury and relief on the whole is inadequate."

reviously in the meeting, the institute, which represents 56 per cent of the druggists in the state, adopted a resolution protesting against retail druggists being placed in the general retail merchants' code. This resolution was 'telegraphed to Washington.

Dr. W. S. Elkin Jr., chairman of the local committee, presided and introduced the speakers sent here by the institute to discuss the progress of its organization and the general subjects of the druggists' code. These were Carl Weeks, a manufacturer of Des Moines and treasurer of the institute; Tom Smith, of Wilmington, Del., a retailer, and Henry Faxon, a wholesaler of Kansas City, Mr. Smith left Wednesday night for Washington. Dr. Elkin will proceed with the other two to Jacksonville, where he will address the druggists for Mr. Smith.

Mr. Weeks contrasted the former attitude of the government, which was that industry must compete, with the more liberal attitude of the Roosevelt regime. He traced the origin of the institute, showing how it worked for the good of its members. Being composed of individuals, and not of companies, it did not, he explained, conflict with the law.

Mr. Smith discussed the code in a general way, and read the telegram appearing above. Mr. Faxon stressed the need of unity in the drug industry. These speakers recently addressed meetings in Alabama and Tennessee. The house of representatives and the gallery were crowded with delegeates, and loud speakers conveyed the speeches to the senate chamber, where other visitors sat. Mr. Weeks spoke last Wednesday night over WSB.

News of the death of Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau, will - be received with regret throughout the country.

A familiar figure at civic gather ings here, he had been a conspicuous and welcome attendant upon thousands of conventions throughout the country during his 20 years with the Atlanta convention bureau, and the growth of this city as a convention center is largely due to his indefatigable efforts and the overflowing good humor with which he pressed the advantages of the city.

His work took him to every secion of the country and beyond its borders. He had become a veteran figure at all the large annual conventions and his smiling face and happy disposition won for him a warm welcome by and the sincere regard of the delegates attending these gatherings of the business and professional men of the nation.

"Cousin Fred," as he was affectionately known, was one of Atlanta's most valuable assets and his death will cause a vacancy that will be hard to fill in the ranks of those Takes Precautions. working for the progress of the community. It marks the end of a life devoted to helpful and unselfish effort in behalf of his city.

A DIPLOMATIC TRIUMPH. Behind the story of Cuba's new freedom from terror and the restoration of true government, is the story of one of the finest diplomatic triumphs the United States has ever won.

The situation in the island republic was far more critical as regards this nation than most of our people realized. It was one which involved not only Cuba but the entire Latin peoples and nations.

The administration's entire program of Pan-American trade revival and a restoration of friendly relations and understandings with the neighboring republics to the south hung in the balance.

Pilsudski

I am told that Pilsudski recently abruptly demanded of the soviet am bassador what attitude Moscow would take in the event of a conflict between Poland and Germany. The ambassa dor is said to have replied with grea caution. His country, he explained was bound by a treaty of friendship with Germany and also by the pact o non-aggression concluded with Poland. THE DIET IN ACNE.

Acne is the funny name we give to the common blackheads and pim-ples of youth. A few young persons seem to escape this putative afflic-tion altogether. But most normal boys and girls are more or less trou-bled with blackheads and pimples, and so the condition is physiolerather than pathological—exce the harassed mind of the victim. I truly believe a reasonable amount of acne is good for a boy or girl at this age, provided the youth does not take it seriously. It tends to prevent ex-cess of vanity from spoiling a fine person. But thanks to the ignorance of the educated an unmerited stigma attaches to this innocent acne

Contrary to the popular notion this condition is not due to uncleanliness or neglect of bathing or washing. Young persons who discover a few blackheads or pimples often make matters worse by too much vain scrubbing. So far as the health of the skin is concerned, when in doubt never

(UP)—A 12-year-old boy, victim of amnesia, recovered consciousness on the street here today, hundreds of miles from home and remembering nothing that had happened since August 6.

He asked a stranger where he was, and was directed to police headquarters. The boy told Police Chief Joe Wakelin that he was the son of John C. DeCamp, who is in charge of the civilian conservation corns camp at East Tawas, Mich.

Police notified the boy's parents and DeCamp said he had believed the boy kidnaped. Mrs. DeCamp was en route here tonight to return the boy home.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

CONSUMERS WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The heavy thinkers around the NRA are trying to laugh off the dramatic exit of Professor Ogburn. They want to create the impression that it was caused by a petty quarrel. There was much more behind it than that.

The truth is Ogburn's parting shot against the consumers' ad-

That board has been a private joke among the higher-ups from

The only good laughs General Johnson has had in the past six weeks came when some one mentioned that organization

If the counsels have done anything outstanding, it has been kept a secret even from Johnson. Since the first week, newsmen have been trying to get a statement of the board's purposes and accomplishments—something strong showing action. Each week they are told that perhaps next strong showing action. Each week they are told that perhaps next week they may be able to get something along that line. Nothing has been forthcoming yet.

That is not due to the inefficiency of the counsels. Their conscientiousness and sincerity cannot be questioned. Possibly no other persons could have done more.

But times have been bad for consumers' counsels around the The big job has been to lasso industry and business into es. There has been no time for haggling about specific prices. That will come later when the codes are in operation. It will be the main business then.

If the NRA tried to handle specific price questions now, the codes would be delayed for months. At least that is the theory on which the organizers have been

GRUMBLING The thing which made Ogburn's warning impor-tant was that it came when price complaints from consumers were pouring in.

Housewives were howling (by mail) about canned goods and groceries going up. The man who wanted a suit found the price much higher than on the last one he bought. The motorists who had to purchase a new tire found the price had quietly been raised 20 per cent. The incomes of these people had not been touched by the NRA or anything else. other words, if the NRA has put a million men back to work, they will not object to price increases. But the 40,000,000 or more who are employed cannot see the logic in price increase while their wages remain the same.

And what of the unemployed who have not yet found lobs? There are more than 10,000,000 of them on whom higher prices fall as a bitter hardship.

REMEDY Officials are trying to find the answer. Some remedial action may be expected soon. They cannot keep their program from working hardships on someone. Most salaried men benefited from the decline. Prices dropped before salaries, in most instances. This class will have to bear some of the brunt going up. The only national danger lurking in the situation is the possibility that increased prices will scare off buyers. That can be

BANKS The larger bankers are talking in whispers about organizing a court test of the bank guarantee provision.

They consulted one lawyer who thought times are not propitious for constitutional arguments. He declined the case.

Others will take it. They will argue that it deprives the best banks of their business standing and places their weaker competitors on an equal footing.

That would be an unanswerable argument if made by a priate business. However, the government has unusual authority over national banks. It grants them charters.

Unless the boys get cold feet, the suit will be started by re-

TALK Agriculture Secretary Wallace was asked why cotton prices were falling. The question was put in a press conference recently. Wallace drew a chart from his desk. It showed that the prices of wheat, corn and cotton lately have followed the fluctuations of the dollar. When the dollar goes up, they go down. Someone pointed out that his chart indicated dollar devaluation would be the best possible farm relief. "I am not secretary of the treasury," replied Wallace; "any-

cured by inflation

The background on the Wallace story is that he is an inflationist, while Treasury Secretary Woodin is a con-servative. The fight which Budget Director Douglas made to require farmers to pay their seed loans with money they get from the government for crop reduction has hurt his prospects of getting Woodin's job. It has made him somewhat unpopular in the farm regions where the administration desires to be popular.

The Roosevelts were considerate of the newsmen who accompanied them to Hyde Park. They had an open air press party one afternoon. Mrs. Roosevelt cooked at an open fire. Mr. Roosevelt was noticeably tired when he left Washington for his vacation but apparently fully recovered when he returned here.

At the age of 16. Bill ran away from home. He was a smart boy with feelings easily hurt, and needed careful handling. To remain at home meant a conflict or meek submission to his father's will, and Bill elected to leave. It seemed the easiest way out of a difficult situation. A few months later, Bill met a recruiting officer who wasn't too inquisitive and enlisted in the army.

The first business of the army, in those days, was to tame smart boys. Bill got his first experience of discipline. But he still nursed the conviction that he didn't have to do anything he didn't wish to do, and his submission to force was merely physical. His spirit was untamed and his heart was filled with sullen rebellion. At the first op portunity he deserted.

For a number of years thereafter he drifted from job to job, quit-ting each in turn because his feelings were hurt. At work or in his hours of leisure he did precisely as he pleased, and when any situation displeased him he solved the problem by leaving it.

At the age of 25 he fell in love with a high-spirited girl and married And there wasn't room in one smal lhouse for two such spirits. This time Bill found escape in alcohol. He solved his problem by taying drunk enough to forget it.

Three years of steady drinking left him a physical wreck. The doctor gave him his choice between alcohol and life. Bill had learned his lesson. He resolved to quit drinking and live humbly before his God. But he had at last found a problem he couldn't run away from, and he had waited too long to learn self-discipline. There was only one way out and he took it. The neighbors said liquor killed him, but they didn't know about the running away. (Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution).

277,105 PERSONS PAY SIX MILLION IN BEER TAXES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16-(AP) Just short of 280,000 persons paid the federal government $6,290,530 during the waning months of the last fiscal year for the privilege of making or selling beer. The internal revenue bureau today made public statistics showing that from April 7, through May and up to last June 30, a total of 277,105 per-ka, Illinois.

The secretary, glancing down the list submitted as prospective projects for public works funds, noted the recommendation for one in his home town to cost $160,000.

"We could use that much money in Winnetka," the secretary said, "but not for that."

Commenting that it was probable none of the other cities of the list needed postoffices any worse than Winnetka, he had the entire group held up for further study.

Public works officials declined to name the other cities.

Alvin McCullough Not UnderSuspended Sentence At Time of Baker Killing

Editor Constitution: In your issue of last Sunday, Mrs. Katherine Pope Merritt, whom I have known since she was a girl and always have greatly admired, in commenting on the killing of her brother-in-law, W. B. Baker, by Andrew and Alvin McCulough, respectively, father and son. lough, respectively, father and son, makes two charges against law en-makes two charges against in forcement, viz.:

(1) Andrew, the father, had been paroled just a week before the Baker killing after serving 15 years of a 20-year sentence. I do hot know as to the correctness of this statement. The records of the prison commission will show about this.

(2) Alvin, the son, was under a 13-month chain gang sentence. "For any control of the prison commission will show about this. (2) Aivin, the son, was under a 13-month chain gang sentence. "For some reason he had never served any of this sentence—the presiding judge had allowed him to go under a so-called 'suspended sentence.'"

I assume I am the "presiding judge" referred to, as I have filled that office in the county referred to

Was Alvin McCullough under suspended sentence at the time Mr.
Baker was shot? If so for what offense and when was the sentence im-

Baker was shot? It so for what orfense and when was the sentence imposed?

I am in receipt of the clerk's answer today as follows:

Alvin McCullough was not under suspended sentence. The first tire he was tried was on the murder charge. He was under four or five indictments for offenses committed prior to the murder, and had forfeited his bonds in these cases.

So, the inference drawn by Mrs. Merritt that this murder could have been avoided if the imposed sentence of my court had been enforced is not sustained by the record. I know Mrs. Merritt woulds not knowingly misstate facts about any matter. She has just been misinformed, and by passing on through the public press this misinformation has unintentionally discredited my court. I know how keenly she feels over the wrongful killing of Mr. Baker.

I have written the governor urging him not to interfere in the enforcement of the sentence in this case, which has the approval of the supreme court. I think, if capital punishment is to be applied for crime in any case, that the death penalty is deserved in this instance.

My purpose in writing this statement is merely to correct the error,

Government Moves Swiftly To End Garment Trade Strike

NEW YORK. Aug. 16—(P)—The first major industrial strike in the metropolitan area since creation of the NRA—a walkout of 60,000 garment workers—was but a few hours old today when the government stepped in to mediate.

Former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, chairman of the city committee of the NRA, was authorized by the national labor board at Washington to negotiate a settlement. He said he had perfected plans to end the dispute and would confer with leaders of the workers at a hotel to morrow at noon.

Whalen said he had been in telephonic communication with General Hugh S. Johnson and that the NRA administrator was in full accord with his mediation endeavors. He expressed the belief that the strike and the conditions that caused it would be a matter of history by Monday.

The strike, which has as its object. higher wages and the end of the sweatshop, according to labor leaders. In New York, New Jersey, parts of eastern Pennsylvania and Connecticut. The strike started quietly at 10 a. m. Although the busy garment district between 30th and 40th streets was crowded with strikers, police reported only minor disturbances and in New Brunswick. South River, Lodit, Passaic and Paterson in New Jersey. No official word had been received here late today from the Pennsylvania strike area.

I had a day off, you see, and a Ruggles, bee-like, improves each loose-momented hour. I've always questioned that "shining hour" business. Hours can be very dull indeed. But shine? I was hurrying along toward the corner of Hollywood boulevard and Vine street, which is the restaurant center of the world, when I was stopped by a huge, bearded, disconsolate figure of a man. Why do we writers always say that? Figure of a man indeed! It was a man all right, but his figure wasn't much to speak of. In fact it shouldn't be mentioned at all. But it's a habit.

He was crying.

"What ho, my huge, bearded, disconsolate figure of a man," I cried.
"Why these tears? Surely there can't be this much trouble in the world. Come, come, my good man, tell me what is the trouble."

"I'm Gummo," he sobbed, "Gummo—and nobody knows me."

M'DUFFIE DEFENDS GRAND JURY RIGHTS

Cites Law in Address Before Annual Meeting of Grand Jury Association.

P. C. McDuffie, of the Atlanta bar, speaking before the Association of Grand Jurors of Fulton County at its annual meeting, outlined the rights of the grand jury and urged the grand juries to assert these rights.

"The solicitor-general has no authority over the grand jury. On the contrary, the law requires him to attend the grand jury and draw indictments when so instructed by the grand jury.

"Politicians have succeeded for years in misleading grand jurors into the belief that they must not do anything without instructions from the court or the solicitor-general.

"Grand jurors have the right and it is their duty to file general presentments with the request that they be published in the daily papers whenever a majority of the members may deem it necessary in the public

Treasurer of Kansas Garner Urges Texans Refuses to Resign To Vote for Repeal

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 16—(P)—A refusal to resign as state treasurer of Kansas, was Tom B. Boyd's answer to Gov. Alf. M. Langdon's request that he relinquish his duties in the light of developments arising out of the state's million dollar forged bond scandal.

the state's million dollar forged bond scandal.

Following his arraignment yesterday on a charge of embezzling state funds, the treasurer made public a letter he had sent to the governor in which he declared he was guilty of no wrongdoing and advised the chief executive he did not believe "the circumstances warrant your request and I decline to resign."

The governor said he was willing "to leave the entire matter up to the legislature and the courts."

Fund letter to Roy Miller, Texas director of the democratic national campaign, the vice president, who is at his Uvalde home, stated his views. The long, low limousine drove through the heavy New York traffic. The famed Broadway lights shone brilliantly, dimming the radiance of the moon. Slowly the car eased up to the curb and stopped in front of a long canopy that stretched regally from the sidewalk front to the building. A huge electris sign above the entrance blazed this name gaily to the world: "CLUB BIARRITZ." In lesser lights, zut just as gay, was "ABBY FANE."

"We'll get married."
"That's just what I'am afraid of. Don't you see what I mean? I don't want you to choose between them and me. You might regret the bargain later on." There was a knock on the door. "Yes?" called Abby.

"They're waiting for you. Miss!

The doorman opened the door of the car and Abby Fane, her silken blonde hair bedecked with highlights from the bulbs that blazed overhead, stepped out followed by her escort. Rod Deane.

Rod, handsome and young, was speaking earnestly with Abby, as the girl hurriedly walked to the Club Biarritz's pretentious door. "Tell me why you won't, Abby."

Tobacco Mart Helps Rural Cupid; INDIAN SPRINGS MEE Marriages Increase as Leaf Is Sold

By CLYDE BEALE.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 16.—(P)—
Lady Nicotine, who gave cupid a hand in America's early days when the colonists swapped tobacco for their wives, still is a staunch ally in south Georgia, where young farmers in the bright leaf tobacco belt turn their gold weed into money with which to begin housekeeping.

Ordinaries throughout south Georgia report an increase in the number of marriages over other months of the year. After tobacco omes; cotton and other crops are harvested in the late summer or early for the tobacco market opening or shortly after the opening or shortly after the opening of the tobacco market opens, and the rise continues throughout the fall. In this section, August, September, October, November and December are outstanding for their lead in the number of marriages over other months of the year. After tobacco comes; cotton and other crops are harvested in the late summer or early folk. The number of complex entering the matrimonial state continues to increase.

The judge must be readily accessible at all times during the tobacco comes direct from the warehouse to the office in search of the proper person to perform the ceremony.

ITALIAN LINER REX BREAKS RECORD FOR OCEAN SPEED

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(P)—The Italian liner Rex arrived today from Gibraltar claiming a new record for a trans-Atlantic crossing by ships.

The Rex made the trip from Gibraltar to Ambrose lightship, at the entrance to New York harbor, in 4 days 13 hours and 58 minutes, at an average speed of 28.92 knots. The distance given was 3,181 miles.

The fastest previous crossing was made by the North German Lloyd liner Bremen, sailing the westward course from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship, in September. 1932, in 4 days, 15 hours and 56 minutes. Her highest average speed, however, was made on the eastward trip from Ambrose to Cherbourg over the long summer course of 3.199 miles. June 30 last. On that voyage her average speed was 28.51 knots.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am 21, lonely and heart-broken. For four years I have been going with a bey two years older than I. During this time I was at my youth's best and had chances for many other sweethearts but I turned them down for this bay. Not once in the four sweethearts but I turned them down for this boy. Not once in the four years did he tell me that he cared for me, though I thought he did. He lived only 20 miles away and came once or twice a week to see me and often wrote to me in-between the dates. Last November I felt I could stand the uncertaintened of the care of ty no longer, so I reproached him with his silence. I felt I had a right to know where I stood with him. He replied, "Let's be friends—I never had a serious thought." I received this information very calmly but the next day I wrote him a letter and unburdened my him a letter and unburdened my him a letter and unburdened my heart to him. I told him all he had meant to me and asked him not to come again since he only offered friendship and I was more serious in my thought of him.

him and cannot forget him. ADA.

Answer: First of all, a little consolation, then a little scolding and finally a little advice. You are now approaching your "youth's best." You haven't passed it. The chances you have had to annex other young men are not lost. They are only postponed. Your heart is not broken. It is only a little sore and, like all young flesh, it will be quickly healed.

You had no right to think the young man loved you and had serious intentions unless he had said he did. Men tell women when they love them and they speak for them Answer: First of all, a little cor he did. Men tell women when they love them and they speak for them when they don't want someone else to get them. No man goes to see a woman twice a week and writes to her in-between without telling her what is on his mind. If he doesn't speak of love, it is because he doesn't think of love.

If you wanted to keep the young man near you, you made a mistake in confessing that you felt more se-riously toward him than he felt to-Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stephens announce the birth of a son at Crawford W. Long hospital on August 7, who has been named Thomas Orr. for his maternal grandfather, the late ward you. If you wanted to get rid of him, that was the most effectual way. It takes two to carry the "love pack" and the young man who isn't ready to take up the burden is more Thomas Jack Orr. of Davisboro, Ga. What shall you do? It depends entirely on what concession you are willing to make. If you are satisfied with an unsentimental friendship that has nothing to do with love then let the young man come to see you. If you are not, then you must refuse to see him. Love sometimes grows out of friendship but it takes a clever woman to handle it. When a woman falls in love with a man she ceases to use her head. She lives by the dictates of her heart. If you can school yourself to smother any sentimental feeling toward the young man, to receive him in a cool, detached fashion then you may gain your ulti-What shall you do? It depends ion then you may gain your ulti-mate point. One thing is sure, if you love him and he doesn't love you, he will be repelled rather than compelled by the affirmation of your affection.

In any event, try some other dates, You will be surprised how easily diverted you may be. Another young man will be the best cure for your CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield : I fell in love with a married man who pretended to love me, but I later found out he was a common philanderer, like most of them turn out to be, I vowed to get even with him, but after thinking it over I decided to try to erase the whole affair from my mind and never to get mixed up with a brute again. Am I right. H. G. R.

Answer: Entirely right you are; and when you consider that you were party to the man's fooling his wife, you must conclude that you were "accessory before the fact," which spells guilt in a courtroom. once it is acknowledged by the defendant. A man that will fool his wife won't hesitate to fool some other woman to whom he owes less of an obligation. We human beings are not honest in one area of life and dishonest in another. Culbertson attributes three features of the American team's play that accounted for the victory—the auperior slam bidding, penalty doubles and leads.

There is much to be said on favor of the points he brings out. Whether or not you like the Culbertson system, you have to admit that the four and five no-trump, when used in the correct manner and predicated on sound, previous bidding, is a very fine guide to small and gramd slam bidding. It was quite a victory for the Culbertson team and his system.

Speaking of the Bridge World, reminds me that from this date Atlanta will be represented in its pages. Your humble correspondent will contribute about a page in each issue on Atlanta and Southern Bridge. Culbertson on Contract

That Other Suit

BY ELY CULBERTSON. World's Champion Player Greatest Card Analyst.

One of the most puzzling problems in bidding is the question of when a player should bid his second suit if partner has supported the first. It is generally conceded that it must always be shown when the first suit is denied, as no fit has been discovered and it is essential to reach the contract which will please both hands the most. However, when a fit is already determined, the ques-tion of showing or concealing one's distribution becomes a real problem.

Broadly speaking, there are only four situations in which a new suit should be shown when the first has been supported. The first is when a game is highly doubtful and it is barely possible that it might be made in the second suit and not in the first, as, for example, when a 5-4 in the second suit and not in the first, as, for example, when a 5-4 first, as, for example, when a 5-4 distribution is held and it seems preferable to try to reach a declaration in which a 4-4 combination can be played rather than a 5-3 or even a 5-4. The second is when some rebid must be made and it is desirable to use the type of bid which must be construed as an inferential Force. This occurs most frequently when one's hand is fairly weak and the intention is to pass below game if partner makes a minimum response. The third occurs when it is desir-

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 124

The huge gorilla, grasping the unconscious girl in his arms, turned to face the naked white ape-man whose cry of defiance it understood. Tarzan leaped at the towering man-thing, went clean over its head, and before the gorilla could turn, stabbed him in the back.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(P)—Activity in the bond market improved today as a heavy stock list led to another flurry in secondary and speculative liens, many of which yielded a point or two but, in some instances, regained part of the lost ground before the close.

The general price level was shaded a little by the irregularly lower trend. Fluctuations in high-grade intremed. Fluctuations in high-grade investment issues were unimportant for the most part and reflected the absence of interest on the buying side rather than any selling pressure,

CUT IN ARMY POSTS WILL BE ORDERED AS ECONOMY MOVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—(R)—In the interest of economy and efficiency, President Roosevelt plans to abandon a number of army posts scattered throughout the country, some of which date back to the Revolution.

The administration holds the opinion that many of the posts, although vitally necessary years ago, have long passed their period of usefulness and now are liabilities.

President Roosevelt hopes to concentrate a number of them into a few major establishments. It was emphasized, however, that no decision has been reached on the fate of individual posts. There are 350 in all.

The question came directly to the president's attention through the army building program which Secretary. Dern submitted to Secretary Ickes, head of the public works administration. It provided for spending $145,000,000 at posts throughout the United States and its possessions.

Dern and Ickes failed to agree and the president took a hand.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—(P)—Financial markets slipped and fell today but, with some late support, managed to get back on their feet and resume their limping jog along the pathway of uncertain prices.

By and large, stocks suffered losses of from 1 to 2 or more points at the close, although during the unexpected spill declines ran as high as 5 points.

Released from their minimum price "peg", grains at Chicago yielded the full amount permitted for a single day's fluctuations. Cotton was weak, too, most of the day, but, final declines were held to around $1 a bale. Secondary bonds generally followed stocks. The dollar was firm in the foreign exchange markets, although price changes were usually narrow. Wheat at Winnipeg, now restricted to a minimum price, fell about 2 cents a bushel. Commodities were easy.

a bushel. Commodities were easy.

The bulk of the transfers in the share market was sandwiched in the mid-day hour when selling was heaviest. Total volume amounted to approximately 1,800,000 shares, or about double that of yesterday. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average of 90 selected stocks declined 2.2 points.

The security markets were clearly perturbed by the tangled situation existing in the American and Canadian grain pits.

Stocks were jogging at their easy, but uneventful pace of the past several days when, just before noon, a flood of selling orders appeared on an extremely thin market. The selling, while it lasted, was so fast the ticker tape dropped a few minutes behind. The wave subsided, however, in about an hour and there was a moderate rally which was followed by a resumption of the previous trading dullness.

The business picture was rather The business picture was rather sporty. Sicel output, as reported by "Iron Age," fell 4 points to 53 per cent of capacity, the lower rate being attributed principally to the uncertain future of the trade's code. Electric power production tapered off slightly, although the current report revealed a 15 per cent gain over a year ago.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(P)—The regular quarterly dividend of $2.25 on the capital stock of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company was ordered by directors of the company today.

The dividend is payable October 16 to stock of record September 15.

Declaration of the regular disbursement had been expected in Wall Street notwithstanding the company's failure by substantial margin to earn the dividend in the first half of the year.

STEEL ORDERS RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—(A)—There has been a considerable falling off in steel orders, mainly as result of seasonal influences and difficulties surrounding application of the industry's code Iron Age said today.

Ingot output for the nation has dropped to 53 per cent of capacity from 57 per cent in the previous week, and sharp recessions in output have occurred at Pittsburgh, Chicago and other leading centers, according to the review.

By BERNARD S. O'HARA. NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-(P)-The curb market responded to weakness on the big board with a moderate selloff. Pressure, however, abated in the late trading and losses of 1 to around 5 points were reduced by the close. Alcohol shares, off 1 1-2 to 3 points at one time, reduced net losses to fractional proportions, except in Hiram Walker, which finished 2 points lower. points lower.

In the power group Electric Bond & Share halved a 1 3-4 point drop while American Gas & Electric and Commonwealth Edison closed at their lows for the day, off around 2 each.

Transfers approximated 300,000 shares compared with about 150,000 for Tuesday.

Brokers' Views

on the market from a long-pull standpoint.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—All things considered, the stock market does not show as much nervousness as might be expected. We think this is due to the feeling that further important losses in business activity and agricultural commodity prices may force the hand of the administration in the matter of inflation. Traders are mindful of the possibility of surprise developments.

DOBBS & CO.—Until something happens to give some freedom to grain trading, the stock market seems likely to be relatively dull with a declining trend. COTTON OPINIONS.

COTTON OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
Indications are that a large short interest has been created in cotton as a result of the impasse in the grain markets, while, at the same time, the low interest has been greatly reduced. The weather outlook also is unfavorable. We look for the raily to go further as a result of this combination.

LIVINGSTOM & CO.—At present prices cotton is cheap and we doubt that traders who have the courage to buy in the face of conditions as they now appear are likely to be frightened by intermediate fluctuations, and think they will ultimately be well rewarded for their hardihood.

BEER & CO.—We feel that well pro-BEER & CO.—We feel that well pro-tected purchases now can be made with a fair degree of safety. DOBBS & CO .- The market acts very rell liquidated, although the climatic sell-

GRAIN OPINIONS.

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
The market is still seeking a trading level.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—It is impossible to say at what price trading will be stabilised, but to those who will not be perturbed by immediate fluctuations, the purchase of grains presents good investment opportunity.

BEER & CO.—Comment of the trade generally suggested the action of the market today was due to public psychology and that sentiment was likely to change materially in a moment in case of any developments of an unexpected character.

NEW YORK. Aug. 16.—(P)—A further decline of about $2 a bale in cotton was followed by partial rallies on covering today.

December contracts, after breaking to 8.66 or 44 points net lower and 364 points below the high record of last month, closed at 8.89 or 23 points up from the lowest, with the general market closing firm at net declines of 12 to 21 points.

Relatively steady Liverpool cables were offset by a favorable view of weather and crop conditions, and in addition to liquidation there was considerable selling through brokers with foreign councetions. The south was also credited with selling more freely. also credited with selling more freely.

Offerings increased after the publication of the weekly weather report, and the action of the wheat and stock markets seemed to stimulate the selling. Numerous stop orders were uncovered during the progress of the decline which carried active months about 38 to 44 points below yesterday's closing quotations.

Offerings then tapered off and there were sharp rallies in the late trading on covering and scattered buying accompanied by talk of a firm technical position and renewed talk of inflationary possibilities.

FAILS TO ERASE LOSSES

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16—(A)—
Cotton was active today and after weakening sharply during the morning on hedge selling and long liquidation, rallied in the afternoon, recovering most of the early loss on a reported good demand for wheat and recovery in stocks. The market closed steady with prices showing net declines for the day of 9 to 13 points.

The opening was disappointing although Liverpool was much better than due. Private cables stated that there was hedge selling in the Liverpool market offset by trade calling. Manchester cabled that there was a fair inquiry for cloths, but India bids were too low.

GEHRIG EQUALS

Browns Hammer Three Pitchers To Overcome New York, 13-3.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—(P)—While Lou Gehrig was tying the Major league "durability" record by playing his 1,307th consecutive game for the New York Yankees today, the Yanks took a terrific beating from the Browns. The final score was 13 to 3 and the defeat coupled with Washington's victory over Chicago, sent the Yanks down 6 1-2 games behind the league leaders.

The Yanks had all kinds of trouble with the pitching of their former teammate, Ed Wells, while Charley Devens, who made his first start, was driven out in the third inning when the Browns made seven runs. Devens, Danny MacFayden and George Uhle gave up 18 hits, including two doubles and two singles by Irving Burns and a homer by Sam West.

Li Ching-yun Lives 256 Years and Tells How It's Done

Li Ching-yun has just passed on in China. He was 256 years old, according to family relatives. Even the scoffers admitted the old gentleman was 197.

Before he died some inquiring reporter got around to Li Ching-yun and asked him the secret of long life. And the old man gave it:

"Keep a quiet heart, sit like a tortoise, walk sprightly like pigeon, and sleep like a dog."

That doesn't seem so difficult. Walking sprightly as does a pigeon is not the easiest part of the assignment. Sitting like a tortoise is really very easy. A comfortable chair, a good book, such as Christopher Morley's "Human Being," for instance, and your faithful one often sits like a tortoise from midnight until the rosyfingered dawn has started tip-toeing on the mountain

Keeping a quiet heart isn't so difficult. Mine has learned to skip only one beat when a car backfires immediately behind. Or when the lady who drives me manages to get the

The man was puzzled. He showed it plainly.

"Then you don't want no okra?" he said, very disappointed.

And so there was nothing to do but go back to bed and rait the fourth knocking at the door.

I salute you, Li Ching-yun. May you rest easily in your last bed. And I thank you for that last bit of knowledge—the secret of long life. Like all great secrets, it is simple. And like all great knowledge, it

THE TORTURE OF DIVES.

From Fort Erie, Ontario, and the race track there, comes this story of exquisite torture endured by a man who had picked the daily double—and lost his ticket.

His $2 ticket on the daily double had Dark Altos in the first race and Fire Real in the second. When Dark Altos and Fire Real both won he reached for his was then worth $2,907.33.

It was gone. All the tortures imaginable must have burned their way across his mind as he searched his pockets for the fat lost ticket. The story says that he was unable to talk. But finally his ticket was found.

It recalled that story of Bill Nye. Bill Nye had a friend who had a phobia, a special phobia. He feared men in uniform, such as policemen and conductors. One day Nye and his friend were traveling by train. The friend slept. Nye purloined the ticket. He then awoke his friend. "The conductor is coming," he said. The friend couldn't find his ticket. He was frantic.

"I tell you," said Nye, "get down on the floor and I will cover you with overcoats and the suit cases." And so he did. And so the friend perspired there by the steam pipes while the conductor came leisurely

When he reached Nye the humorist held out two tickets. "Why two?" asked the conductor.

"One is for my friend here," said Nye, pointing to the pile of suit cases and overcoats.

"But why is he down there?" asked the amazed conductor. "Oh," said Nye, "he just likes to travel that way."

THE BELL THAT TOLLS THE CATCH.

Mr. Martine Harmsen returns from a visit to Walter Bellingrath's summer home below Mobile on the Elowah river. He brings a new fishing story, which is authenticated by Mc-

The Bellingrath residence is on a bluff which overlooks the river. The bluff slopes down to the boathouse and private dock. The river there is 250 feet wide. And across it is stretched a trot line.

One end of the line is attached to a lever, which in turn one end of the line is attached to a lever, which in turn is attached to a lever, which in turn is attached to a cowbell. You've guessed the rest. When a good-sized fish gets on the line, the bell rings. And Frank, the custodian of the boathouse, awakes from his slumbers and gets the fish. gets the fish.

> These fish at least are permitted to sound their own requiem. Which is something.

THE BACK-LASH EVIL.

It was just last Monday afternoon at the private fishing lake of the beautiful Oak Mountain Springs hotel, that haven of quiet living and good food, that I tried casting. The first opportunity since last summer on Blue Springs creek, which is in a sector of land between the meeting of the Chattahoochee and the Flint rivers.

Mr. J. E. Humes, who is an artist at casting, was watching. His casts had sped to far corners of the lake, dropping deftly and softly to the waters.

When they sped from this wrist, the plug dropped as if tossed from the top of the Washington monument and the back-lash was terrific, threatening to snarl up the boat and Great Pitching Exhibition Features Game With Little Rock.

By Ralph McGill.

Those Crackers may have looked like chumps before, but they looked like champs Wednesday night as they came surging along behind Rufe Meadows' brilliant pitching 'to beat Little Rock, 2 to 1.

Wilbert Robinson, who' is directing from the bench, squirmed around so much waiting for the Crackers to start hitting that he wore the heel of his pants very thin indeed. But the Crackers came through in the seventh with one run to tie the Little Rock tally, which had been made in the second.

they, which had been made in the second.

It was that sort of a ball game. The score board boy hoisted up so many horse collars he started looking for a job as stable boy somewhere.

BARRON IS HERO.

It was Red Barron's knock to left field which really won the ball game, although, you will go far before you see better pitching in the clinch than Rufe Meadows showed in the ninth. But more of that later.

The Travelers scored in the second when Brown was hit by a pitched ball. Eddie Ainsmith, who was calling them behind the plate, said the ball did not strike Brown. Brown was hopping up and down wiggling his firmer was the second was hopping up and down wiggling his firmer. was hopping up and down wiggling his fingers and moaning. When Bill Brennan, who was at first base, majestically waved Brown to first, the Traveler first-baseman forgot all about his aching fingers. Maybe he wasn't hit after all.

wasn't bit after all.
Buchanan struck out, but this fellow Akers, who brought other aches to the Crackers, gave them an ache with a double to left field that brought the painless Brown in from first first.

And there she stayed. Tex Nugent and Rufe Meadows got down to pitching. And it was an exhibition worth going far to see. Not only was it the best pitching seen at the local park this season, but it was the best seen in several seasons.

The Crackers had two singles to their credit when the seventh rolled up. Wilbert Robinson kept backslapping Rufe Meadows and urging ROLLINGS TRIPLES.

But there had been no hitting. Red Rollings saluted Tex Nugent with a triple to start the seventh. It was a great blow. Duck McKee was an infield out to first base, unassisted, but Mollings scored with the tying run.

Meadows had them out with only three men up, a great double saving the eighth. Dashiell, a cast-off, was safe when Monahan dropped the ball at first base. Dashiell went on to second. He was the second man up, Nugent having gone out by the flyball route. Morehardt blasted a ball to short and Chatham got it with a great stop. He threw to first to get Morehardt and Monahan stabbed it in home in time to get Dashiell, who was hustling down the path toward home and mother. It was a brilliant double play.

And then came the Crackers' half.

And then came the Crackers' half. And then came the Crackers man.
Neisler was an outfield out. Sheerin singled but Rufe Meadows, attempting to sacrifice, forced Sheerin at second. Buster Chatham came through

BARRON DOUBLES.

Red Barron came up and fouled off five and then slapped one down the third base line. It bounded over the bag and into left field for a double. Meadows was home with run number two. That was all, Rollings fouling out at third.

Then came that dazzling pitching.

fat to nit and tried stealing. Neisler threw hat second. Wright singled.

Carlos Moore was warming up. And then Meadows struck out Brown. Guy Sturdy put himself in as a pinch hitter. He got a walk, the only one Meadows issued during the game.

And then Meadows struck out Akers so perhaps he had the last ache after all. It was a great bit of pitching.

Tuesday night's wrestling program at the Ponce de Leon ball park, Matchmaker Henry Weber announced last night.

Atlanta To Receive

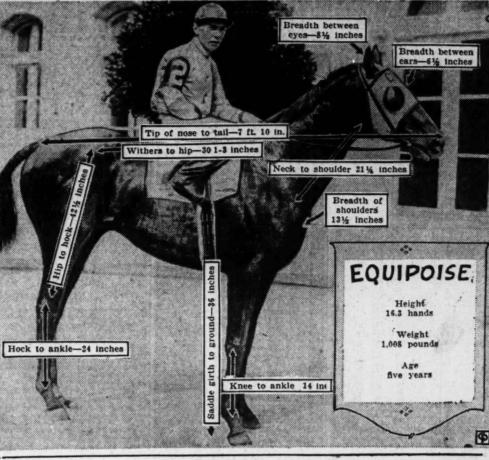

Cup at Tonight's Game

Atlanta's attendance trophy, won this spring when the Crackers drew the largest crowd on opening day in the Southern association, will be presented at tonight's game with Little Rock. It is scheduled for 8 o'clock and ladies will be admitted free to this game and all others played this season.

Miss Savilla Martin, the attractive daughter of John D. Martin, president of the Southern association, will present the cup in the absence of her father, who was unable to attend the presentation

BLACK MEDALIST Managing in Minors No Cinch, Says Robby

Former Brooklyn Pilot Finds Directing Crackers Tougher Than National League Position.

By Jimmy Jones.

After four days, or rather three days and a night, of directing t Atlanta Crackers from the close communion of the players' bench, yo Uncle Wilbert Robinson is about convinced that managing a minor leag ball club, particularly an outfit like the present Crackers, is an ev tougher assignment than managing a big league club.

It isn't that your jovial uncle is discouraged or anything like that, wasn't expecting to elevate the Crackers from the bastile so soon. was just talking about it, this business of managing in the minors and attending hardships. Uncle Robby, in those three days and that one night, has yelled hi self hoarse in exhorting the various Crackers to the all-important du of driving in runs in the clutch. But still men die on the bases. It was not until last night that the Crackers came through behind Meadows and gave Robby his first victory after three losses.

gave Robby his first victory after thre.

"This is a good league, the Southern league. Most of the managers are foxy minor league managers, like Larry Gilbert. Bert Niehoff and Doc Prothro. They know this league from A to Izrael and all the hitters in it. Most of the clubs have ball players who know the league, too.

"In the big leagues, now it's different. The material is better, the players are finished players. They have to be before they get up there. Managing up there is more a case of keeping harmony on the ball club, knowing when to sacrifice, when to pull pitchers, sacrifice, when to pull pitchers, etc. That's why all ex-big league managers don't make good minor league managers. I can recall a dozen or so, myself. They were used to players of a different spring, commented on the caller of managers in the Southern and what he was up against corralling a ball club for Atlanta.

"These old managers down here know as much baseball as you or I do, Joe," he said in writing McCarthy, seeking player help.

There is not the slightest doubt in Uncle Robby's mind but that Charley Moore knew baseball. He always considered him a smart manager, as did Hank DeBerry and others connected with the Brooklyn club. They looked at players every year who had played under Moore and they saw that he had improved them and taught them a great deal of baseball.

OLD-TIMERS.

It is a matter of reason that managers and have speat eight or 10 nected with the Brooklyn club. They looked at players every year who had played under Moore and they saw that he had improved them and taught them a great deal of baseball.

It is a matter of reason that managers who have spent eight or 10 or more years in the same league, will naturally have the advantage over a newcomer, especially if he hasn't the proper playing timber to work with.

On the other hand a read-of-hasn't the proper playing timber to work with.

On the other hand, a paradoxical situation exists in the cases of Bert Nichoff at Chattanooga and Clyde Milan at Birmingham. Both have been eminently successful in the matter of winning pennants. Yet they haven't the right kind of material this year and their teams are not in the race, whereas the Krioxville team of Tommy Taylor, a first-year pilot, is now leading the pack. Taylor, while a good player, was never credited with possessing a great deal of potential managerial brilliance.

In Robby's opinion, it all comes back to knowing the league and having the right kind of ball players—winning ball players. Taylor played in the Southern long enough to recognize the type when it came along.

"Managing everywhere, in so far as running a ball club is concerned, is about the same, whether in the majors or the minors. It's largely a case of having baseball sense and baseball judgment. But I'm telling you, any man who doesn't know the ropes in the Southern league is up against a problem"

Robby, in a letter to Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, back in the spring, commented on the caliber of managers in the Southern and what

Barn Swallow Wins In Alabama Stakes

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 16.—(P)— Washington's high-flying senators kept up their swift pace today by taking another 5-to-1 decision from the White Sox and extending their winning streak to eight straight. Earl Whitehill, the Senators' star southpaw, spread out seven Sox hits so that they did little damage and thereby accounted for his sixteenth victory of the season. He walked none and struck out six. A home run by Luke Appling, Sox shortstop, in the fifth inning accounted for the only Chicago tally. Manager Joe Cronin hit a home run for the Senators, his fourth of the season. It came with one out in the sixth and none on base. Washington made the most of the nine hits it gleaned off Milt Gaston to score in four different innings. Joe Kuhel, Senator firstsacker, accounted for the team's first two runs, scoring in the second inning when he walked, Bluege ascrificed, and Sewell singled; and repeating in the fourth when he singled, Bluege again sacrificed and Sewell also singled again. After Cronin's homer in the sixth, the Senators picked up their other two runs in the eighth when Goslin and Manush doubled in succession, Manush scoring when he beat Kress' throw to the plate on Schulte's grounder after having taken third on Cronin's infield out. Goslin led the Senatorial attack with a pair of doubles. ENATORS 5; WHITE SOX 1. WYET'N abh.po.a. CHICAGO abh.po.a. Myer.?b 5 0 4 3 Swangon, f 4 0 3 0 SENATORS 5; WHITE SOX 1 W'H'T'N ab.h.po.a. Snipes Decisions

Sailor Born Here

Honey Boy Snipes, the sniper from Macon, Ga., won a referee's decision over the local lightweight knockout king. Sailor Born, last night, in the headline attraction at the Cain Street arens.

The sniper started out early by cut.

GIVENTSIA FIELD, LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 16.—(4P)—Tommy Hitchcock shuffled his all-star eastern polo lineup today, found another ace, and led the new band to a 12-to-8 triumph over the four wild riders from the far west to even up their intersectional championship series.
The west not only lost the match, forcing the series into the third game, but lost its great back. Hubert W. (Rube) Williams. Williams, one of the most battered figures in high-goal polo, was thrown in the seventh period, and suffered a fracture of his right leg below the knee.

Hitchcock's new ace was Earle A.
S. Hopping. After taking a 15-to-11 beating from the westerners Sunday, Hitchcock decided to remove Michael Phipps from the lineup, sending from the lineup, sending from the lineup, sending from the seventh servers from No. 3 to No. 1 king. Sailor Born, last night, in the headline attraction at the Cain Street arena.

The sniper started out early by cutting a gash over Born's left eye and brought blood from the Sailor's nose in the first round. Snipes, from beginning to end, had his left jabbing away in the face of Born. Several times Born would try to land his famous knockout left, but in practically all instances the much too fast and clever Snipes would dodge or step back out of the way.

Frankle Adams continued his assault on the local heavyweights by sending Bull Johnson to slumberland in the first round of the semi-final. Johnson was going along fine, giving plenty and taking none, when out of nowhere a swift right came whirling in to end the fight.

In the preliminaries Young Ketchell kayoed Ted Long in the fourth round and Ben Brown kayoed Jack Berry in the second round.

Mobile Scores in Fourth YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. Philadelphia 4; Cleveland 5. Washington 5; Chicago 1. New York 3; St. Louis 13. Boston 5; Detroit 6. To Beat Georgia Champions, 2-0.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 16.—Although Jim Bagby Jr., Atlanta Terrors' hurling ace, gave up only two hits, the Mobile Whippets came through with a home run and, with the aid of an error, scored two runs in the fourth inning to win in the afternoon game of the American Legiou regional baseball tournament on the New Holland diamond.

The Whippets will meet the Jackson and Allen headed for home. The throw from first was high and the throw from first was high and the tunner scored.

The Terrors hreatened in the seventh and ninth innings. In the latter frame, Mins hit a hard drive to deep left field but was held to a double on account of ground rules. Malone hit to third and Mins was out in a chase when caught between second and third, Malone stopping at first. Perkerson, pinch-hitting for the high core second, Malone going to third. Peaceck struck out. Bishop went in as a runner for Perkerson and stole second. Gershon walked, filling the bases. Crockett grounded to third, and the Mobile third base man stepped on his bag, foreign glishop, ending a good ball game.

Badd THROW.

Bagby secured good support with the third base man stepped on his bag, foreign ground for the fourth-inning throw. Peaceck, Atlanta left fielder, the exception of the fourth-inning attributed the fans with a hard running from the Browns.

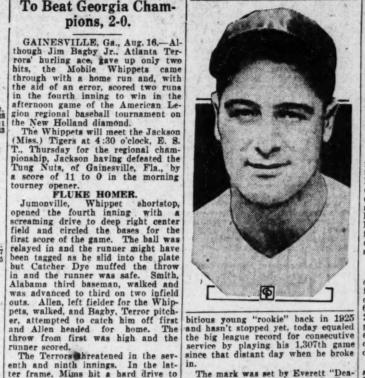

Bagby secured good support with holding to the ball. He got a double the catch a runner between third and holding to the ball. By Bill King, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEWPORT. R. I., Aug. 16.—Any doubts that Ellsworth Vines, national tennis champion, has not recovered from his Davis cup collapse were removed today when the lanky California titlist polished off two capable rivals with neatness and dispatch to lead the parade of seeded players into the Newport Casino tournament's round of eight.

Vines who seemed as felt along the tournament's round of eight.

Vines, who seemed safely along the road to his third straight casino victory, was seldom in better form as h: registered straight set victories over R. Norris Williams, the Philadelphia veteran who won two national titles before the war, and the brilliant little Bryan Grant from Atlanta, who upset four of the nation's first 10 players this season. Grant defeated John Van Ryn, Davis cup star, 6-0, 7-5, this morning.

DECISIVE AGAINST GRANT DECISIVE AGAINST GRANT.

The title defender was much more decisive against Grant, despite the fact that he took him in stride. He defeated the stubby southerner, 6-2. Frunning up the amazing total of 29 earned points, including 26 placements, to three, but making 37 errors to 33 for Grant. Both were charged with the high total of 21 outs during their 16-game match.

Wilmer Allison, Frank X Shields

Lott when he pulled a tendon while chasing a baseline drive early in the second.

He limped through the second set, during which he won but one service game, and then, with the match square, defaulted to his Chicago rival, who was eliminated in the fourth round play by Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., in a stubbornly contested 5-7, 6-4, 6-4 match.

Vines' two victories moved him in the same bracket with Stoefen and the other fifth round pairings were Allison against Gledhill, Shields against Parker and Mangin opposing Sutter.

Vines and Gledhill overcame a Newport pair, C. H. Beasley and E. T. Matthews, 6-2, 6-2, before gaining a bracket on the field by eliminating Herbert Bowman and Giles Verstraton, New York, 6-2, 7-5. Perry and Wilde overcame H. H. Hartford and Benjamin Bacon, of Newport, 6-0, 6-4, in a second-rounder and Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, last year's runnersup, defeated the Legendre brothers from New Orleans without losing a game in their first-round tilt.
